

ADVERTISEMENT

BUSINESS

Municipal bond issuers halt billions of sales in market rout

A traveler arrives at Ontario International Airport. Among the largest municipal-bond sales postponed or moved to day-to-day status is a $340-million pension bond issue planned by the city of Ontario. (Allen J. Schaben/Los Angeles Times)

By DANIELLE MORAN AND SOPHIA SUNG
BLOOMBERG

MARCH 13, 2020 | 12:52 PM

The worst municipal bond market sell-off on record drove state and local governments to cancel or delay $7 billion of debt sales as yields soared and underwriters balked at bidding in auctions.

School districts in Nevada, Pennsylvania and Texas, as well as state agencies in Rhode Island, New York and Virginia, were among those that shelved offerings planned for the week of March 9, according to data compiled by Bloomberg.

The retreat came as municipal bond prices tumbled sharply, driving up yields on even the safest 30-year securities by nearly a full percentage point, as panic about the spreading coronavirus rippled through Wall Street. The riskiest debt was hit particularly hard as investors pulled a record $1.7 billion from high-yield municipal funds in the week through Wednesday, according to Refinitiv Lipper US Fund Flows.

Municipal bond sales -- particularly those for lower-rated borrowers --- shift to a different day on occasion as banks seek more time to drum up bidders. But they're rarely postponed en masse due to broader market moves.

ADVERTISING

Cases statewide »

18,830

confirmed

498

deaths

Updated April 8, 5:42 p.m. Pacific

Amid the sell-off that followed the 2016 presidential election, some state and local governments pressed pause on many sales after a sharp uptick in rates. At the time, New York City shelved a $1-billion sale of tobacco-settlement-backed bonds and Los Angeles International Airport postponed a $436-million issue for capital projects.

Some of the largest sales postponed or moved to day-to-day status this week were $505 million in debt from the Virginia Public Building Authority, $450 million from the Ohio Water Development Authority and $340 million in pension bonds planned by the city of Ontario.

Two governments in Arkansas, one in Georgia and one in New Mexico rejected bids sent in by underwriters for their sales and others received much less interest than normal, according to data compiled by Bloomberg.

Johnson City Central School District in New York had just one bidder, TD Securities, on their $10-million sale on Thursday, while in 2018 the district had five banks vying for its debt. At least one issuer, Merrimack County, N.H., didn't receive any takers on its $17-million short-term note sale, data collected by Bloomberg show.

BUSINESS

Get our weekly Business newsletter

A look back, and ahead, at the latest California business news.

Enter Email Address

SIGN ME UP

You may occasionally receive promotional content from the Los Angeles Times.

Danielle Moran and Sophia Sung

BUSINESS

Why are eggs getting so expensive? Blame coronavirus demand

2 hours ago

BUSINESS

Georgia Sen. Loeffler, who traded ahead of coronavirus fears, will exit individual stocks

April 8, 2020

HOUSING & HOMELESSNESS

On top of everything else, now property taxes are due. Here's how to get help

April 8, 2020

BUSINESS

What to do after coronavirus takes away your job

April 8, 2020

Around the Web

Ads by Revcontent

How Dogs Cry For Help: 3 Warning Signs Your Dogs Is Crying For Help

DR. MARTY

Americas #1 Futurist George Gilder's 2020 Prediction Will Stun You

INTERNET REBOOT 2020

3 Ways Your Cat Asks for Help

DR. MARTY

Dr: New Gummy 'Better Than Hemp' for Pain, Anxiety, & Sleep

HEALTH ALERT US

Do This Immediately if You Have Diabetes (Watch)

Beauty Surgeon Says: "Do This If Your Eyebrows Are Disappearing"

BEVERLY HILLS MD

FREE FOR ALL READERS >

 The most important things to know today

 Live updates on the pandemic

 Newsletter: Masks become mandatory

 Where you can get tested in L.A. County

 FAQ: Your top questions answered

LATEST BUSINESS >

BUSINESS

Column: The next coronavirus rescue bill must fix all the problems of the last one

April 8, 2020

HOT PROPERTY

Actress JoBeth Williams and director John Pasquin buy Pacific Palisades retreat

April 8, 2020

HOT PROPERTY

Auto titan's Bel-Air estate sells for $19.5 million

April 8, 2020

WORLD & NATION

From caviar to apple juice, coronavirus is changing the way the world feeds itself

April 8, 2020

BUSINESS

Stocks jump 3% on stimulus hopes, speculation about reopening business

April 8, 2020

ADVERTISEMENT

Los Angeles Times

Subscribe for unlimited access

Follow Us

Copyright © 2020, Los Angeles Times | Terms of Service | Privacy Policy | CA Notice of Collection | Do Not Sell My Info